i3070 In-Circuit Test System

Onsite Agreement

Data Sheet

Introduction

Are you looking to rent a best in class In-Circuit Test (ICT) system on a temporary basis?

Look no further. Keysight Technologies, Inc., the original equipment manufacturer of the world-renown i3070 ICT system, now offers you the system onsite agreement.

What is the System Onsite Agreement?

The system onsite agreement provides short term rental of the i3070 system, preconfigured according to the customer's needs, together with the latest hardware and software. This rental program comes with cooperative uptime support and system calibration service to ensure that our customers get total peace of mind while using the rental system.

Benefits of renting an i3070 from Keysight

You will get the latest i3070, with the most current system hardware and software:

- Latest best-in-class ICT technologies that are not available from other i3070 rental vendors
- Best measurement performance and speed with the latest ASRU N measurement card
- Best system reliability, as components are all new and within the warranty period
- System is in pristine condition and looks as good as brand new

You can request to use any Keysight i3070 feature protected by the software license in your rental system:

- Latest i3070 software revision will be pre-installed on rental system
- Access to more measurement capabilities and features like VTEP and Cover-Extend Technology
- Legal use of Keysight software licenses on the i3070 system

Total peace of mind as maintenance and uptime support service plus 2x system calibration are included and provided by Keysight:

- Uptime support with cooperative 8x5 phone support with parts deliver by next business day, to help you quickly diagnose and fix the system when something breaks
- System calibration is performed after system installation to ensure the system is working as per specifications
- System calibration report and certificate can be provided on request to facilitate any ISO9000 compliance requirements
- Enjoy peak performance on your rental system for maximum system uptime, without additional cost

In some countries, Keysight preferred rental partners (PRP) will be offering i3070 ICT rental service. You may contact either your Keysight or Keysight PRP sales representative for a quote. Your rental system will be shipped from our Keysight warehouse and uptime support service will come direct from Keysight to ensure that you get the best quality support and in the shortest time when you need it.
