Boost Your Bench's Memory – For Free!

For a limited time, receive a FREE* memory upgrade (up to $600 USD value) with your purchase of selected Keysight digital multimeters and function/waveform generators:

Keysight's 34465A/34470A Truevolt digital multimeters give you unrivalled measurement performance that lets you view your true signal while minimizing noise and guaranteeing compliance to industry-leading standards.

Keysight's 33500B/33600A Trueform function/waveform generators offer you more capability, fidelity, and flexibility with high sampling rate and bandwidth and ultra-low jitter.

There's never been a better time to purchase one of these bench instruments! Your FREE* memory upgrade will give your bench a memory boost of up to 2 million readings (digital multimeters) or 64 M (function generators) so you can do deeper testing.

In digital multimeters, more memory allows you to data log over a longer period of time and store many readings for later analysis. In function/waveform generators, more memory lets you generate complex waveforms with many points for higher time resolution.

Bonus Offer!

You'll also receive a FREE* 90-day trial license of Keysight's BenchVue software with your purchase. BenchVue PC software makes it simple to connect, control instruments, and automate test sequences so you can quickly move past the test development phase and access results faster than ever before.
